

Build a Stronger System Integration Business

For more than 30 years, CSIA has been helping system integrators just like you troubleshoot, strategize and, ultimately, grow their companies.

What is CSIA?

The Control System Integrators Association (CSIA) is a global trade association built specifically to help system integration companies improve, grow and lead with confidence.

Why Join CSIA?

When you join CSIA, your membership gives your entire company access to practical business tools, peer connections and industry-specific resources designed by system integrators for system integrators.

Here's How

Run a stronger company

Use CSIA's Best Practices and Benchmarks Manual, business tools and education to strengthen project delivery, financial discipline, quality, service and support.

Learn from peers who understand your business

Connect with owners, executives and functional leaders through networking opportunities, special interest groups, forums and the CSIA Conference.

Benchmark what matters

Compare salary, benefits, business health and market indicators with SI-specific data so you can make informed decisions with better context.

Build credibility with customers

Membership signals your commitment to continuous improvement, professional development and industry standards. Beyond that, CSIA Certification provides third-party validation that a system integration company meets high standards of business and management practices.

Grow your visibility

Access marketing resources, media opportunities and the Industrial Automation Exchange to help prospective customers find and evaluate your firm.

What Makes CSIA Right for You?

- Built for system integrators: CSIA focuses on the business of system integration —not generic manufacturing, engineering or technology topics.
- Practical and peer-tested: Resources are shaped by experienced SI leaders who have faced the same growth, talent, project and customer challenges.
- Company-wide value: Membership is held by the company, so your leadership, operations, sales, marketing, engineering and support teams can all benefit.
- A trusted path to maturity: CSIA Best Practices and Certification help firms move from good technical execution to consistent, scalable business performance.

“

We value working with system integrators who invest in stronger businesses, better project outcomes and long-term customer success. If you are looking for a community that can help your firm sharpen operations, develop leaders, benchmark performance and connect with peers, I encourage you to explore CSIA membership.”

Hal Chassereau

*Director Industrial Automaton
Graybar*

Get Started

Ready to learn more? Visit the CSIA website at www.controlsyst.org, review system integrator member benefits and start a conversation about how membership can support your next stage of growth. Prefer to call or email? CSIA's main number is +1 847-686-2245; email is info@controlsyst.org.